

Finding a Full Text Version of a Publication Using the McMaster Health Sciences Library

1. Locate the abstract of the paper you are unable to find the full text for	 The screenshot shows the SpringerLink interface for a review article. The title is "Group treatment for postpartum depression: a systematic review" by Janice H. Goodman & Gabrielle Santangelo, published in 2011. It includes citation information and a link to the abstract.
PUBMED Strategy
2. Visit https://hsl.mcmaster.ca/ 3. Click on PUBMED	 The screenshot shows a navigation menu with categories: DATABASES, EBOOKS, GUIDES & TUTORIALS, EVIDENCE-BASED, and ONLINE JOURNALS. A central panel highlights four databases: OVID, PUBMED, CINAHL, and WEB OF SCIENCE, each with a right-pointing arrow. Below this is a search bar with the text "Select an article database to search for health literature" and a "MORE DATABASES" button with a right-pointing arrow.
4. Copy and paste original article name and first author onto PUBMED search bar 5. Click on "search" 6. Article should pop up, or you may have to locate the article from a short list presented	 The screenshot shows the PubMed search interface. At the top is the NIH logo and "National Library of Medicine National Center for Biotechnology Information" with a "Log in" button. The "PubMed.gov" logo is prominent. There is a search input field and a green "Search" button. Below the search bar, it says "Advanced" and provides a brief description of the PubMed database.

7. Click on “Full text links”	 Review > Arch Womens Ment Health. 2011 Aug;14(4):277-93. doi: 10.1007/s00737-011-0225-3. Epub 2011 Jul 1. Group treatment for postpartum depression: a systematic review Janice H Goodman ¹, Gabrielle Santangelo Affiliations + expand PMID: 21720793 DOI: 10.1007/s00737-011-0225-3 Full text links Cite Abstract
8. Click on “Get it at Mac”	 FULL TEXT LINKS SpringerLink FULL-TEXT ARTICLE get it! McMaster Libraries
9. Try the various links presented to get access to the full text	 McMaster University Library Get it! @ Mac SEARCH MENU SITE MENU Title: Group treatment for postpartum depression: a systematic review. Source: Archives Of Women's Mental Health [1434-1816] Goodman Yr.2011 Vol.14 Iss.4 Pg.277 -293 Basic <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Full Text Online Canadian Research Knowledge Network SpringerLink Current Terms of Use Full text available from E-Journals - Scholars Portal Full Text Online Gale Academic OneFile Terms of Use Full Text Online Scholars Portal Journals: Springer Terms of Use

<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Visit https://hsl.mcmaster.ca/ 2. Click on WEB OF SCIENCE 	 The screenshot shows the top navigation bar of the HSL website with categories: DATABASES, EBOOKS, GUIDES & TUTORIALS, and EVIDENCE-BASED. Below this is a sub-menu for ONLINE JOURNALS containing OVID, PUBMED, CINAHL, and WEB OF SCIENCE, each with a right-pointing arrow. A text prompt below reads 'Select an article database to search for health literature' and a 'MORE DATABASES' button is at the bottom.
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Choose "Title" from the drop-down menu in the top left box 4. Copy and paste paper title name into top right box 5. Optional Add a row 6. Choose "Author" from drop down menu 7. Copy and paste author name (Web of Science will prompt correct author name format as shown) 8. Click on "Search" 	 The screenshot shows the 'Web of Science Core Collection' search interface. The 'DOCUMENTS' tab is selected. The search criteria are: Title: 'Group treatment for postpartum depression: a s...', and Author: 'Janice H. Goodman'. A dropdown menu for the author name is open, showing 'GOODMAN JANICE H' and 'Advanced Search'. There are '+ Add row' and '+ Add date range' buttons, and 'Clear' and 'Search' buttons at the bottom right.
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 9. Article should pop up, or you may have to locate the article from a short list presented 10. Click on "Get it at Mac" 	 The screenshot shows a search result for 'Group treatment for postpartum depression: a systematic review' by Goodman, JH and Santangelo, G, published in ARCHIVES OF WOMEN'S MENTAL HEALTH 14 (4), pp.277-293 in August 2011. The article is highlighted in yellow. It shows 31 citations and 71 references. A 'Full text' link is available, along with a 'Show more' link and a 'Related records' link.

11. Try the various links presented to get access to the full text

The screenshot shows the McMaster University Library website. At the top left is the McMaster University logo. To its right is the text 'Library Get it! @ Mac'. Further right are search and menu icons. Below this is a dark red 'SITE MENU' bar. Underneath, there is a search result snippet: 'Title: Group treatment for postpartum depression: a systematic review. Source: Archives Of Women's Mental Health [1434-1816] Goodman Yr.2011 Vol.14 Iss.4 Pg.277 -293'. Below the snippet is a dark red bar with a yellow circle containing a minus sign and the word 'Basic'. Underneath this bar are four links, each with a globe icon and a 'Terms of Use' link below it: 1. 'Full Text Online Canadian Research Knowledge Network SpringerLink Current' 2. 'Full text available from E-Journals - Scholars Portal' 3. 'Full Text Online Gale Academic OneFile' 4. 'Full Text Online Scholars Portal Journals: Springer'

Google Scholar Strategy

1. Go to <https://library.mcmaster.ca/databases/google-scholar>
2. Click on "Connect"

The screenshot shows a 'Google Scholar' button with a 'Connect' label and a right-pointing arrow. Below the button, the text reads: 'Alternative Title: GoogleScholar', 'Allowable Uses:', and 'Access is available on and off campus to current McMaster University students, faculty and staff.'

3. Copy and paste paper title onto search bar 4. Click on the search icon	 The screenshot shows the Google Scholar search interface. The search bar contains the text "postpartum depression: a systematic review Janice H. Goodman" followed by a search icon. Below the search bar, there are radio buttons for "Articles" (selected) and "Case law".
5. Article should show up with a link to its full text	 The screenshot shows the search results for the query. The top result is "Group treatment for postpartum depression: a systematic review" by JH Goodman, G Santangelo, published in Archives of women's mental health, 2011, by Springer. The abstract text is visible, starting with "Postpartum depression (PPD) is a serious public health problem affecting 10% to 15% of women during the first year after delivery with negative consequences for both mother and infant. There is a need for evidence-based interventions to treat this disorder. Thus, the purpose of this study was to systematically review the literature regarding group treatment for PPD to determine the current state of knowledge regarding the efficacy of this treatment modality for reducing depressive symptoms in postpartum women. A systematic search of ...". A red arrow points to a "[HTML] nih.gov" link in the top right corner of the result snippet. Below the abstract, there are icons for citation and related articles, with text "Cited by 90 Related articles All 12 versions". At the bottom, it says "Showing the best result for this search. See all results."

